African Certification and Testing is the legal entity responsible for product certification activities; reference to African Certification and Testing in this Policy and Public Statement refers to these legal entities.

African Certification and Testing and all its employees (permanent and sub-contracted) fully understand the importance of impartiality in undertaking its Product certification activities.

African Certification and Testing will therefore ensure that in all its dealings with Clients or potential Clients all employees or other personnel are and will remain impartial.

To ensure that impartiality is both maintained and can be demonstrated the following principles have been established.

- African Certification and Testing Certificates are only issued following a review by an independent authorized and competent member of the management team (who has not been involved in the evaluation) to ensure that no interest shall predominate
- African Certification and Testing does not offer (and has never offered) inspection and testing related to product certification or any other form of consultancy to client, that would be outside its scope.

- Individuals employed by or otherwise contracted to African Certification and Testing are required to document and record their current and past relationships with all companies. Any situation past or present which may present a potential conflict of interest is required by African Certification and Testing to be declared. African Certification and Testing will use the information to identify any threats to impartiality and will not use that individual in any capacity unless they can demonstrate that there is no conflict of interest.
- African Certification and Testing will not allocate a member of staff or subcontractor to a management system evaluation where any past relationship with a customer of 2 years from the date of relinquishment from their services for the client has existed. Exceptionally and at the discretion of the Director(s), an individual or subcontractor may be allocated to a management system evaluation where a past relationship existed but there has been no relationship for the past 2 years.
